

30th Annual Conference on the Adirondacks
“Key Issues Shaping the Adirondack Future”
April 15th & 16th, 2026, High Peaks Resort, Lake Placid, NY

CALL FOR PAPERS – PAPERS & POSTERS

The Adirondack Research Consortium invites scholars, practitioners, and researchers from all disciplines to participate in the 30th Annual Conference on the Adirondacks. This year’s theme is: “Key Issues Shaping the Adirondack Future.”

We welcome submissions of paper abstracts for oral presentations and poster abstracts for display throughout the conference. All poster presenters will have dedicated opportunities to engage with attendees. If a paper is not accepted for an oral session, authors will be invited to present their work as a poster.

We encourage submissions from a wide range of fields, including but not limited to:

- Natural Sciences: Climate impacts, ecosystem resilience, biodiversity, forestry, and water quality
- Business and Economics: Renewable energy innovation, sustainable development, and environmental policy
- Social Sciences: Community adaptation, housing, public health, and socio-ecological systems
- Humanities and the Arts: Cultural and historical perspectives, storytelling, and artistic expressions of resilience

This conference provides a valuable opportunity to share research with a diverse audience of scientists, practitioners, policymakers, educators, and community leaders. Presenters will contribute to cross-disciplinary conversations addressing both regional and global climate challenges.

Submission Details

- Abstracts should be submitted electronically via adkresearchconsortium@gmail.com or by contacting the Consortium.
- Abstract Deadline: March 1, 2026
- Decisions will be made by March 9th, 2026.
- If a paper is not selected for oral presentation, authors are encouraged to submit it as a poster.
- Participants are asked to register for the conference.

We also invite you to consider submitting your work for publication in the Adirondack Journal of Environmental Studies (AJES), an interdisciplinary journal highlighting research and perspectives on environmental and social issues related to the Adirondack region.

For inquiries, don't hesitate to get in touch with us at (518) 241-6186 or adkresearchconsortium@gmail.com. We look forward to receiving your submissions and working together to advance resilience and sustainability in the Adirondacks! Please share this announcement widely and join us in advancing science, collaboration, and resilience in the Adirondacks!